Dear Hiring Team,

I am a UX Designer with over 7 years of experience designing enterprise products, specialized in Design Systems and scalable user experiences. Throughout my career, I've enjoyed solving complex problems at two levels - crafting intuitive product experiences for end users while building reusable design foundations that enable teams to deliver consistent, high-quality experiences at scale.

My career began at TCS, where I built a strong foundation in enterprise UX by designing data-intensive applications within technical constraints. At Accenture, I led end-to-end UX design for an enterprise underwriting platform, collaborating closely with researchers, product managers, engineers, and business stakeholders to simplify complex workflows and deliver user-centered solutions in an Agile environment.

Currently, at John Deere, I transitioned into the Design System team, where I contribute to the shared foundation used by more than 20 product teams. My work includes building reusable components, leading the redesign of an enterprise Equipment Icon System, defining documentation and contribution guidelines, improving design-to-development workflows, and partnering closely with engineering to ensure scalable implementation. This experience has strengthened my ability to think beyond individual features and focus on long-term maintainability, governance, and consistency across product

Across these roles, I have developed a balanced skill set that combines user-centered design, product thinking, design systems, and stakeholder management. I enjoy partnering with product managers, engineers, and business teams to transform complex requirements into intuitive, impactful user experiences.

I am excited to bring this combination of enterprise product design experience, Design System expertise, and collaborative mindset to my next opportunity. I look forward to contributing as both a hands-on designer and a strategic partner while continuing to grow into larger ownership and leadership responsibilities.

Thank you for your time and consideration. I look forward to hearing from you.

Kind regards,
Shreya Jain
